Much rivalry in the contest resulted in Mr. Arthur Thomas and Master Thomas Mahone winning first place, while Misses Marian Spicer, Marie Gibbons and Jennie Jones received the same mark for second place.

The musical numbers were given by Miss Mary Johnson in a duet with Miss Minor, by Master Thomas Mahone, Misses Lucile Neal, Marie Gibbons, Rosalie Rehling, Marian Spicer, Arthur Thomas, Spanish, Biedermann, Martin, Lange, Kullak, Mendelssohn, Chopin and Tschikowsky.

It will then be brought out handsomely. There has been no trouble in securing a cast or proper stage management, but the judgment of those chiefly interested justifies the delay for other good reasons.

THE PEONAGE CASES.

Like Others Brought in Which There Was Not a Conviction. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 9.—The two bills of indictment found here yesterday by the Federal court grand jury are against citizens of McDowell, Mitchell and Mecklenburg counties. One of the bills is against J. W. Prim, a cotton mill man, of Mecklenburg, Mecklenburg county, and alleges that one of the operatives was forcibly compelled to work out a debt of $47 due the mill.

The other indictment included the names of seven men in McDowell and Mitchell counties who composed a construction company for the building of the South and Western Railroad, now being constructed through these counties.

This indictment grows out of alleged wrongs done laborers in building the road near Marion. A great many laborers were uncontrollable. Italians, who used to be employed, were forced to work under contract to repay same with labor. Not liking the work, some of them took French leave, not staying long enough to work out the transportation charges charged against them. They were charged that in some cases laborers were forcibly detained and made to work out amounts due them, this offense constituting peonage.

The McDowell and Mitchell case will be tried at Statesville court and the Mecklenburg case at Charlotte court. Southern cotton mill owners were greatly harassed by the government less than two years ago by prosecutions against Charlotte and South Carolina manufacturers for alleged violations of the alien labor contract law, in bringing over a number of English cotton mill operatives. It cost the government thousands of dollars and not a defendant was convicted.

DEATH OF PROFESSOR GORE.

Member of University Faculty Dies in Baltimore Hospital. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CHAPLAIN HILL, N. C., April 9.—The entire community was shocked here today when the sad news was received that Professor James H. Gore, dean of the school of applied sciences in the University of North Carolina, was dead in a hospital in Baltimore.

Professor Gore had been in declining health for some time, which necessitated his going to Baltimore for treatment. His recovery, however, and his death has caused a wave of depression to pass over the university campus.

Professor Gore was born in 1852 in Frederick county, Va., and received his education in the State of Virginia, where he was elected to the office of that State. He came here in 1882 and had been actively identified with the university ever since. He was universally liked and admired by all who knew him, and was commonly known as the students' friend, many of whom he had taught in the State of Virginia. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Margaret Williams, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. John Williams, at one time pastor of the First Baptist Church of Baltimore. He was a brother of Professor James Howard Gore, the noted scientist of Washington.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Ordinance Committee Rejects Measure to Increase the Police Force.

MR. RUDD IN THE MINORITY

Claimed, However, That City Was Often Without Proper Protection—Personals.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1107 Hull Street.

The most interesting discussion which came up at the meeting of the Ordinance Committee last night was on the question of increasing the police force. Mr. J. B. Rudd made a strong attempt to have the committee report favorably to the City Council to-night for two additional officers. He said that he did not think the present force sufficient to handle emergencies, and cited a recent case where a man who had become suddenly insane was allowed to go free for some hours owing to the policemen being elsewhere attending to their duties. He also explained that owing to the duties of the Chief of Police as City Engineer it was often impossible for him to look after the force, and that very often there was no one present in the station house.

Mr. Rudd complimented the present force very highly, and in answer to a laughing remark of Mr. Reams to the effect that the present force could be found sitting around the station house any night, said he did not wonder that they could, because men who had to stay up half the day testifying in police cases could not be expected to be very active at night.

The greatest opposition to the increase was offered by Mr. Reams, Mr. Abbott and Mr. Adkins spoke against it.

On vote Mr. Rudd was found to be in the hopeless minority, the committee reporting to the increase by a vote of 1.

LIABILITY BILL PASSED SENATE

INDIAN BILL TABLED

Democrats Voted Solid, and Two-Thirds Majority Was Not Forfeiting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—A motion by Mr. Sherman, of New York, in the House of Representatives to-day to recommend the appropriation bill to conference started the daily monotony of divisions and roll calls. Mr. Williams, the minority leader, was on hand with his usual demand for the yeas and nays, which he facetiously remarked was made with the view to saying time.

Leader Payne, of the majority, challenged that assertion, and at the same time made the point of no quorum. Against that motion Mr. Williams protested, saying the point was dilatory. Speaker Cannon, however, ruled that "the point of no quorum will get a more speedy action."

"Oh," drawled Mr. Williams, "I guess that's so."

The roll was called and the bill was returned to conference 250 to 3, the Democrats all voting with the Republicans.

The reason for returning the bill to the conferees was found in the fact that important changes were necessary in the provisions for the payment of the attorneys of the five civilized tribes for services performed in the preparation of the citizenship rolls. Subsequently the bill was again called up for passage under suspension of rules.

Mr. Sherman explained that the objectionable provision relating to contracts between attorneys and claimants had been restored to its original phraseology, so as to require the approval of the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. Fitzgerald, of New York, vehemently opposed the adoption of the conference report, and called upon his Democratic colleagues to force the Republicans to make good their boast that only such legislation as the majority wanted would be enacted.

"What is sauce for the goose," he exclaimed, "is sauce for the gander, and," he added, "the Republican side on this occasion will be the gander."

The Democrats voted solidly against the adoption of the report, with the result that the necessary two-thirds vote was not forthcoming, and the bill accordingly for the present will lie on the Speaker's table.

DISSENT TO AMENDMENTS.

House Rejects Those of Senate to Army and Fortifications Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—The Senate amendments to the army appropriation bill were disagreed to in the House to-day. While the amendments were being read Mr. Gaines, of Tennessee, overlooking the rule, demanded if there was to be any debate.

"No debate," sharply replied Speaker Cannon.

"I'll bet the tobacco trust is in there, all right," Mr. Gaines remarked heatedly.

Just before the roll was called Mr. Williams engaged in a colloquy with the Speaker over the interpretation of the special rule applicable to the case. Displaying some impatience with the minority leader, Speaker Cannon declined to argue the matter further, but said: "The chair takes great pleasure in sending to the gentleman the calendar, in which will be found full information on the subject."

The amendments to the fortifications appropriation bill likewise were disagreed to, and the bill sent to conference after another roll call.

To Adorn the Entrance.
